

Biography

Anastasija Gichevska is a Macedonian concert pianist, piano accompanist, chamber musician, and piano teacher with an active international performing career. Her artistic work encompasses solo performance, chamber music, instrumental and vocal collaboration, piano education with performances and artistic engagements across Europe, the United States, and beyond.

Born in Bitola, North Macedonia, she began her musical education in her hometown before continuing her studies at the Faculty of Music in Skopje, where she studied piano with Prof. Marija Gjosevska. She completed her Master's degree in Piano at the Academy of Music in Ljubljana, Slovenia, under Prof. Aleksandar Serdar, graduating with distinction.

As part of her artistic development, she also studied at the University of Music and Performing Arts Graz (KUG), Austria, with Prof. Zuzana Niederdorfer. She has further participated in masterclasses with internationally renowned pianists including Joanna MacGregor, Natalia Trull, Simon Trpčeski, David Fray, Oleg Marshev, Jean-Baptiste Doulcet, Cristina Marton-Agerich, Julia Mustonen-Dahlkvist, Giuseppe Devastato, and Akiko Ebi.

As a soloist, Gichevska has received more than thirty prizes at national and international piano competitions. She is a recipient of the Yamaha Award for Best Pianist of North Macedonia and the Robert Turnbull Piano Foundation Award.

Her concert career has taken her to festivals and concert venues throughout Europe and the United States, including Piano City Pordenone in Italy, Erba Piano festival in Italy, Interfest in Macedonia, Fundación Eutherpe in Spain, the Days of Macedonian Music in Macedonia, L'Offrande Musicale in France, and the Nice Classics Festival in France. She has performed at venues including the Ehrbar Saal in Austria, Križanke in Slovenia, SDKM Concert Hall in Denmark, Notre-Dame de Piétat in France, the Church of St. Sophia in Macedonia, and the Jakov Gotovac hall in Croatia.

She has performed as a soloist with the Macedonian Philharmonic Orchestra and the Bitola Chamber Orchestra, and has appeared in numerous orchestral and chamber music projects. She was also selected for the Erba Piano Festival, where she performed Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 23 in A major, K. 488, with string orchestra under the direction of Geoffrey Simon.

As a piano accompanist and chamber musician, Gichevska has extensive experience working with instrumentalists and singers. She has received artistic guidance from Bojan Gorišek and Andreas Woyke, while her work in piano accompaniment with Zoltán Péter and Lied interpretation with Sacha El Mouissi has further developed her expertise in collaborative performance.

In 2026, she performed as a piano accompanist at the Swiss Opera Studio. She is the co-founder of the piano-violin duo Resonantia, which regularly performs in Austria, Slovenia, and Croatia. The duo received the Jakov Gotovac Special Award and was invited to perform during the 2026 concert season at the Tijardović Concert Hall in Croatia.

Alongside her performing and accompanying career, Gichevska is also active as a piano teacher, teaching students of different ages and levels both in person and online. She has been teaching piano since 2021, with a focus on individual technical and musical development. Her students have achieved success in international competitions and concerts.

In 2026, she became a Benedetti Foundation Ambassador, joining an international network dedicated to promoting music education and supporting young musicians.

Through her work as a soloist, collaborative pianist, and teacher, Gichevska combines a strong commitment to artistic excellence with a passion for collaboration, education, and the development of young musicians.
